

HIRAM COLLEGE PEACE CORPS PREP PROGRAM APPLICATION

In 2007, Peace Corps established the Peace Corps Prep Program to develop a pipeline of highly-qualified Peace Corps applicants. Hiram College has been selected to be among the colleges offering this important opportunity for students. The program consists of select courses (see attached list of requirements) and a community service component to help prepare students for international development work and potential Peace Corps service. Students pursuing a major in any discipline may apply for the program.

The successful applicant to the Peace Corps Prep Program at Hiram College will be among a group that will meet together each semester of their junior and senior years, participate in globally oriented events, mentor incoming participants, and present an oral review to the college of the benefits of their experiences in the program upon completion.

Peace Corps Prep does not guarantee undergraduate participants the opportunity to serve in the Peace Corps, however, students participating in the program will gain skills which will make them competitive Peace Corps applicants. Students who successfully complete the program will also receive official recognition by the Peace Corps.
